What you'll do:

Quantity Surveyors at JN Bentley take responsibility for the commercial aspect of construction projects from conception to design, construction and completion - delivering projects that are high value and low cost to maximise efficiencies.

A placement/graduate Quantity Surveyor at JN Bentley will:

- Manage all costs relating to projects.
- Work closely with sub-contractors, while ensuring that the needs of a project are met.
- Effectively manage relationships with various stakeholders, while minimising costs to maximise the value received.
- Agree and report final accounts on both the financial and contractual status of schemes.
- Assist with maintaining our world class safety culture – through the production of critical designs, health and safety documentation, O&M manuals and commissioning plans.

My placement involves a wide range of commercial activities, from arranging payments and cost to completes to assisting with contractual discussions and pre-let meetings.
